History of the Abineau Lodge

The Lodge is located on the property that was one of the original settlements in Mountainaire. A pioneer log cabin built around 1895 sits at the front of the property and the barn next to the parking lot was built in the early 1900's to house horses and cows. The original settlers operated a dairy farm on the property. The dairy "cooler" is located on the adjoining property to the front and is the rock building visible over the fence.

In 1997 current owners purchased the property and built the Lodge. The business was initially an outdoor adventure business with owners Wendy and Jaime guiding guests on rock climbing, hiking, skiing, mountain biking and dog sledding excursions. The original name of the Lodge was the Sled Dog Inn. There were 18 Siberian Huskies that called the Inn their home all of whom have since passed away. Pictures of the sled dogs are on our café tables to remind us of our beginnings and our wonderful pups.

In 2009 the owners decided to rename the Lodge and focus on small events, bed and breakfast lodging and expanding the business into a more local and less tourist based business. Since then we have added a wine bar and café and invite our local neighbors, as well as guests from around the world to enjoy breakfast in a unique, non-commercial setting. We hope you enjoy your visit and of course your breakfast. Please give us your feedback so that we can improve our service and your experience.
